Douglas Democracy in Marathon. Editor of the Sentinel:-As I have seen no published account of the great

moeracy. The Circuit Court was to sit during the last week in August, in this county-Judges, with some capital. jurors, lawyers, suitors, witnesses, &c., would be out; a grand time for a grond ratification of Douglasiam. The "ciub" held a special secret meeting to make a programme for the occasion-the "Central"-as true to its own interest as the leaders of the party generally-was out a week in advance with the "call" for a great mass meeting of the Democracy of Marathon and adjoining counties. The "Badgers" were startled at the great display that was to made on the 80th. Great men and great speeches were to be made—both German and Euglish. Amoust the speakers for the occasion, it was announced that Hon. GABRIEL BOUCK and E. S. Brace, Esq., of Fond du Lac, M. H. SESSIONS, (he of town 25, range 10 noteriety) of Wanpacca, Judge STROPE and G. P. PARK, of Portage county, would be present. Also, German speakers were to interest the Germans. Hand bills and messengers had been sent far and near to bring in the invincibles—the luke-warm were exhorted to duty—the desponding, encouraged.

The German Band had been engaged for the occasion; and in the evening a grand torchlight procession was to parade the several streets of our lifeless village. The great "German Hall" (to dupe the Germans into the belief that democrats were the spacial friends of foreigners) was made the "Head Quarters." Thus ended the great Dovoras ratification meeting of Marathon County. Yours for Douglas.

ATTORNET GENERAL BLACK has decided that the Post Office Department has the power to withhold letters addressed to fictitions persons or firms, when such names have been assumed as a part of a system to cheat and defraud the public. The fraudulent intent, however, must be very clear. It is a very common practise for sharpers to use the postal service to carry on their operations more widely, and reach persons otherwise beyond their scope, and to operate altogether ander fictitious names; and a case of this kind at Baltimore, in regard to which the department desired legal advice, was the occasion of the Attorney General's decision.

Look to it.

In the State of New York canvassing books have been provided for every election district in the State, with a view to registering every Republican voter and seeing that they are at the polis. If such a canvass was held in Wisconsin and every Republican voter brought out, we should carry the State by 29,000. Shall our organization be per-

Bring Him Here.

The Republicans of Michigan are preparing to invite Senator DougLAS to that State. After he stumps New York we hope he will come to Wisconsin." The Republicans will help pay his expenses (barring his liquor bills,) or send for his mother, or offer any reasenable inducement.

D. H. Johnson for Assembly.

As we had hoped and expected, the Assembly District Convention which met at Seneca last Saturday nominated D. H. Seneca last Saturday nominated D. II.

Jonnson, Esq., of Crawford county, as the Republican standard bearer in this conflict. He will make a galtant run, and be elected by a larger majority than the district has usually given for Assemblymen. He is universally recognized as the right man for the place. No one, not even his most determined enemies, deny that he has taient of the genuine kind, and he needs but experience in the new position to which the partiality of the people will elevate him to ensure him an honorable fame as a legislator. His nomination was contested on the informal ballot with some show of determination; but after the result of that ballot had made !! appa-Jonsson, Esq., of Crawford county, as the the result of that ballot had made it apparent that he was the first choice of twothirds of the delegates in the Convention, those who were opposed to him dropped personal preferences and like true Republicans everywhere came over and made his pomination unanimous. All honor to them ! We may wall believe them when they assure as that they will yield him a hearty support, and wherever the fight waxes warm against him there they will do good service in his behalf.

From the Orient. Mahommedan fanaticism has broken out in another and very distant part of the Turkish Empire from those mountains and valleys in Syria to which its ravages had hitherto been confined. A dispatch from Trieste, dated August 24th, states that letters had been received from Ragusa, announcing that a terrible collision had occurred at Gasko, in the Herzegovina, between the Christians and the Musselmen.

rivals in Herzegovina, Montenegro, Crostia and Bosnia; and the recent assassination of Prince Danielo, with the troubles connected with the succession, may have induced the Mahammedan population to believe that they were about to be transferred to foreign masters, who would exterminate their religion in that part of Europe. Let may before I proceed, take the liberty to bring this subject it to none to the State authorities of Wisconsin, and to sake and to implore that nothing may be left undone, it there is yet anything that can be done, to rescue a single sufferer from that dreadful cestamity, and to be sufferer from that dreadful cestamity, and to bring to the comforts of social life, and, of a southern portion of the comforts of social life, and, of a southern portion of the continent is the resonand, good, religious, and public education, the orphans who are left to wander on the

a year ago on the hills of Calvary. I stood soon afterwards on the Pirorus of Athens. Again I found myself on the banks of the Tiber. Still advancing westward, I rested under the shade of the palaces of the kings of Eagland, and trod the streets of the now removated capital of France. From those capitals I made my way at last to Washington, the City of established empire for the present generation of men, and of influence over the destinies of mankind. [Applause] Empire moves far more rapidly in modern than it did in ancient times. The empire established at Washington is of less than a hundred y-cars formation. It was the empire of thirteen Atlantic American States. Still practically the mission of that empire is fulfilled. The power that directs it is ready to mass away from those thirteen States, and although held and exercised under the same Constitution and national form of government, yet it is now in the large of the same content of the present of the proper to definite on the high of the proper to desire the same constitution and national form of government, yet it is now in the large of the proper to desire the same constitution and national form of government, yet it is now in the large of the same constitution and national forms of sovernment, yet it is now in the large of the same constitution and national forms of sovernment, yet it is now in the large of the same constitution and national forms of the proper to desire the same constitution and national forms of the proper to desire the passage of the same over the same constitution and national forms of sovernments the proper to desire the same and the future, shaded and the future, shaded about under the same of the future, shaded about under the same of the future, shaded about under the same of the future, shaded about and the future, shaded about and the future, shaded about and the future, shaded about a large that African shave trade, which would be about a save trade, which would be about about and the future, shaded about a labout under the

Because you are to rise to the assendant and exercise a dominant influence, you are not, therefore, to east off the ancient and honored thirteen that opened the way for you and marshalled you into this noble possession, nor are you to east off the new States of the West. But you are to lay still broader foundations, and erect still more noble columns to sustain the empire which our fathers established, and which it is the mailest will of our Hearenly Father shall reach from the shores of the Lakes to the States of Mexico, and from the Atlante to the Pacific Ocean. It was a free government which they established, and it was a self-growmment—a government such as, on so large a scale, has never before existed. I know that when you consider what a mast nife out to the Pacific Ocean. It was a free government at large a scale, has never before existed. I know that when you consider what a mast nife out the Atlante to the pacific Ocean. It was a free government, not a fine of the still and how dreadful a battle that has been, you all know. It was a great and desperate effort of the aristocracy of capital in lator, to the fields of Karsus.

often exceedingly difficult to tell when or with what party the troubles actually began. To this day it is disputed who were the prime movers in the Syrian slaughter.

The Republicans of Burneth held an enthusiastic meeting last Saturday at Williams' Corners. The Waupun Wide Awakes seut a large delegation, and a crowd of Republicans came from Horicon. Speeches were made by Mr. A. A. Wilson, of Misport, Judge Shoan, of Beaver Dam, W. H. Buttanting, the Dunch of Waupun, and Mr. Gilbert, of Waupun, and Mr. Gilbert, of Horicon. These speeches were, of course, short, and were well received. The exertians and restricted the state of the shaltable globs, which she now exercises.

curred at Gasko, in the Herz-govina, between the Christians and the Muszelmen. The latter were the assailants, and in their fury spared neither the women nor children of their vanquished enemies. As usual, the authorities were unable or unwilling to prevent the massacre.

In the absence of full and trustworthy intelligence, we can only take for granted that this calamity is of a similar character with those which have recently in Syria. The distance between the two countries is indeed too great to justify the belief that this outlage was the result of a regular conspiracy between its instigators and those of Mount Lebsanon and Damascus. But we know that similar causes were at work in both provinces. The Sultan's authority at best was but shence, and in the inefficient hands to which late recently in the service of the service of the province of the work in the further services of the service o cheers for Lincoln, Hamin and Sloan, after which the Wide Awakes paraded with lighted torchea, going through various eventhations and marches. The Burnett Republicans were feeling first-rate at the success of the meeting, and are determined to be wide awake themsalves this Fall.

A curious affair has happened in Rochester, New York. A single man is charged with a marrying a woman already married und living with her husband. And it appears that the parties so married did not constant the meeting and marches and married and marches and married and when the territory of the United States, in the interdor of the continuous of the anti-married and married and married and anti-married and when the territory of the direction and untore by the ep-ning of the African slave trade, and when the territory of the United States, in the interior of the continent was open to of the African stave trade. And, indeed, that is yet a possibility new; for, disguise these issues now before the American people as they may be disgnised by the Democratic party, yet it is nevertheless perfectly true, that if you forego your opposition and resistance to alavery, if this popular resistance should be withdrawn, or should, for any reason cases them the African stave trade. soon, case, then the African slave trade, son, cease, then the African slave trade, which at first illegally renews itself along the coasts of our Southern States, would gradually stal up the Mississippi until the people, tired with a hopeiess resistance.

gradian's year up as a standard and a prople, 'tired with a hopeiess resistance, should become indifferent, and African slavery would once more become the disgraceful trade of the American flag.

Now, all these evils would have happened, all this abaudonment of the continent of North America to Slavery would have happened and have been invitable had resist. north America to stayer wheth also hap pened, and have been inevitable, had resistance to it depended alone on the people of the thirtsen original States. We were already overpowered there. From one end of the Aliantic States to the other, there were, in 1850, scarcely three States which did not declare that henceforth they gave up the contest, and that they were willingthat the pecple of the new territories might have slavery or freedom, and might come into the Union as Slave States or Free States, just exactly Governor Saward was introduced by Gov.

RANDALL. Mr. Saward said:

Fellow Citizens:—It is a bright September sun that is shining down upon usually the powers of labor and of land.

Here then you see I have brought you to be start, pleased with the reason is as imple one, perfectly plain and lowingham, unknown even to her own profuseness. It is such as un as nature, pleased with seeing the growth of a notle capital in a great State, may be supposed to send out to illuminate and to make more of her great state, may be supposed to send out to illuminate and to make more of her great state, may be supposed to send out to illuminate and to make more of her great state, may be supposed to send out to illuminate and to make more of my be on which we are assembled. Here then you see I have brought you to the government are exercised by the our land. [Applause.]

To un instruct in the practice of the government are exercised by the powers of labor and of land.

Here then you see I have brought you to the government are exercised by the better viser; than the practice of the government are exercised by the owners of labor are problem of the reason is a simple one, perfectly plain. You are simple one parable the country were can monopotize the land which another man is obliged to enlivate, much less monopolize the labor by which the lands on which your fields are cultivated, you are entirely and absolutely established and grounded on Bemoeratic principles.

But you all know that it has not always been the history of our whole country, and, at times, was not the condition of any part at times, was not the condition of any part.

[Applianse ] But you are the mourness—the desolute of the west and the mount in the modern and an unable at once to fift myself above the sadues of recent scenes and painful resolutedons. I obeyed the command of the Repathican people of Wisconsin, to appear before them on this, the 12th day of September; and as I approached the beautiful seport, if I may so call the city that crowns the shores of Lake Michigan and offords entrance to this magnificent State.] I had anticipated, because I had become habitated to, a welcome that and of cannon. But the angle of death passed just before me on the way, and interact of emigration from Burope all over the modern of the loss of children, and returned and of cannon. to follow you alboud applause.]
I have said that you are to have the responsibility alone. I have shown you that in the Atlantic Northern States, we were dependent on you. I need not tell you that at present you can expect no effective support or sympathy in the Atlantic Southern States. You must demonstrate the wisdom of our cause by arguments, by reason, by the firm exercise of suffrage, in every way in which the human intelligence and human judgment can be convinced of truth and right—you must demonstrate it, giving line upon line and precept upon precept, overcoming pas-sion, and prejudice, and enuity, with gentleness, with patience, with loving kindness to your brethren of the Slave States, until they shall see that the way of wisdom which they shall see that the way of wisdom which you have chosen, is also the path of peace. (Applauze) The Southwest are sharers with you of the Northwest in this great inheritance of Empire. It belongs equally to them and to you. They have plains as beautiful. They have rivers as notile. They have all the elements of wealth, prosperity and power that you have.

Still, from them, from Kentucky and Tenpasser, from Missouri and Arkarsas, from ssee, from Missouri and Arkansas, from Alabama, and Mississippi, and Louisiana, you will, for the present, receive no aid or support; but you will have to maintain your support; but you will have to maintain your principles in opposition, although. I trust, not in defiance of them—and that for the simple reason that in the great year of 1787, when Mr. Jefferson proposed that shavery should be excluded in all the public domain of the United States, lying southwest, as well as that lying northwest of the Ohio river, those States had not the twenty that not those States had not the precast, had not the judgment, to surrender the temporary conveniences and advantages of slavery, and to elect, as your ancestors chose for you, the great system of free labor. They chose slave-ry, and they have to drag out, for some years vet, not long, not so long as some of you will live, but still so long that they will be a drag and a weight upon your move-ments, instead of lending you assistance— they have got to drag out, to the end, their they have got to drag out, to the out, their system of slave labor.

You have, therefore, as you see, the whole responsibility. It depends upon rou, Yunave no reliance upon the Atlantic States of the East, North or South. You have the opposition of the Southern States on either side of the Alleghany mountains; but still the power is with you. You are situated where all powers have ever been, that have controlled the destiny of the nation to which they belonged. You are in the land which produces the wheat and the corn, the cereal produces the wheat and the corn, the cereal grains—the land that is covered with the oak, and where they say the slave cannot live. They are in the land that produces cotton and sugar, and the tropical fruits—in the land where they say the white man cannot labor—in the land where the white man must perish if he have not a negro slave to provide him with food and raim—it. [Applease.] I am sure that in this, I am speaking only words of bruil and experience. The Northwords of bruth and experience. The North-west is by no means so small as you may think it; I speak thus to you because I feel that I am, and during all my mature life have been, one of you. Although of New York, I am still a citizen of the Northwest, ["good."] The Northwest extends east-ward, castward to the base of the Alleghany ward, castward to the case of the Alleghamy inounitains and does not all of western few York lie westward of the Alleghamy mountains? ["Good."] [Loud laughter.] Bless my soul! I have been laboring under a delusion all the time; I thought I was out here mid-way between the Mississippi and the Lakes, and I find I am standing on the stage in the centre park at home. [A votce, "Right at home."]—[Another voice, "And old Cintario."] And old Cintario. We will not forget old Ontario, nor old Oswego, nor Oneida.

Fellow Utitzens, I will add but one word more; this is not the business of this day alone. It is not the business of this year alone. It is not the business of this year alone. It is not the business of the North-west alone. It is the interest, the destiny of human society on the continent, from North to South, from East to West, a land of freedom and a land of happiness. [Applause. There is no power on earth now existing, no Empire now existing, or as yet established, that is equal or can equal in doestablished, that is equal or can equal in duration the future of the United States. It is not for ourselves alone, you have the least possible interest in it. It is indeed for the children of yours. Old John Adams, when at the close of the Revolutionary War he sat down and counted the losses and sacrifices down and counted the losses and sacrifices that he had endured and made, rejoiced in the establishment of ind-pendence which had been the great object of his life, and said, "I have gained nothing; I should have been more comfortable perhaps, and more quiet, had we remained under the British Dominion; but for my children, and for their children, and for the shildren of the generation that latered with me, I had that we have done a work which entitles us to rejoice, and calls upon us your success to renjoice, and calls upon us your success to ren-der our thanks to Almighty God." Judge Douglas in New York.

ELMIRA, Sept. 14—9 P. M.

Judge Douglas arrived here at 4 1.2 this morning, accompanied by his wife.

All along the route, notwithstanding the inclemancy of the weather, meetings assembled at all the Depots, and the Judge was called out and compelled to speak a few words to the crowds. This morning he suffered from a slight cold.

A great mass meeting was held at 2 c'clook this P. M., at which 5,000 persons attended. Notwithstanding the bad health of Judge Douglas, he spoke an hour and a half, forcibly vindicating the principle of Popular Sovereignty. He made no allusion to Mr. Dickinson and very little to the Breckinridge men, simply characterizing the leaders as Disanioniate and Secssionists, and denonucing them as botters from the Democratic party and Democratic principles.

Fersons going East will find this route by far the most desirable, both from the advantage in point of distance, variety and beauty of the country through which the reads pass, as well as the less fraquent clangues of cars, and the annoyance of re-checking baggage raquired by other routes.

Facilities for the transportation of Freight and live Book by this route, are unsurpassed. Hates as low as any other route, and with equal dispatch.
